Three candidates, Doug Caston, Joe Clark and Hugh Gourlay are seeking the nomination.

The three with returning officer and ballot box are en route to Drayton Valley. They have met with members in five centres and covered approximately 500 miles. The final week of meetings begins in Grande Cache on Tuesday, March 14; Swan Hills on Wednesday, March 15; Whitecourt, Thursday, March 16; Edson, Friday, March 17; and winds up in Drayton Valley on Saturday, March 18.

Meetings have already been held in Blairmore, with 47 in attendance; Turner Valley, 107; Banff, 250; Jasper, 33; and Hinton, 43. Stormy weather and bad roads were cited as detrimental to attendance at the Blairmore and Jasper meetings.

The Honorable Gerald Baldwin, M.P. for Peace River, will be guest speaker for the wind-up meeting that will get underway at 8:00 p.m. in the Frank Maddock High School Auditorium.

Other plans for the evening are well under way with several prominent Conservatives, both federal and provincial, scheduled to attend. Entertainment will be featured throughout the evening.

Admission to the Nomination Meeting will be by the 1972 membership card of the Federal Progressive Conservative Association of Rocky Mountain. A member must be 18 years of age or older and have resided in the federal constituency of Rocky Mountain since February 23rd, 1972. Membership cards are available from all candidates, members of the executive and at the door at the final meeting for $2.00.

The doors will open at 7:30 p.m. on Saturday, March 18, in order to have all members admitted by 8:30 p.m. Membership cards will be checked on admission and ballots issued at that time only. No ballots will be issued after the first candidate begins speaking.

Members are cautioned not to mark their ballots until the method of balloting has been explained by the chairman.

Voting will follow the candidates' speeches and then the ballots from all ten meetings, which are all in one ballot box, counted and the winning candidate announced.

Sportsmen's Dinner Friday Evening

Drayton Valley's first Sportsmen's Dinner for several years will be held on Friday, March 17th in the Frank Maddock High School Auditorium.

Plans are complete, ticket sales underway, and members of the Drayton Valley Athletic Association, sponsors of the event, now looking forward to what they hope and expect will be a most entertaining and successful evening.

Members of the association have put in a great deal of work completing details of the dinner and arranging the appearance of sports personalities.

Master of Ceremonies for the evening will be Mr. Jack Boddington of the Edmonton Parks and Recreation Department. He is a past president of the Royal Life Saving Society and also active in wrestling, boxing, judo and swimming.

Heading the guest speakers will be Father Athol Muuray, Founder and Rector of Notre Dame College in Wilcox, Saskatchewan. Father Murray, at 81, is in great demand on the sports banquet circuit, and with a background of 50 years in athletics, is an invariably entertaining speaker.

Other guest speakers include Mike Law of the Edmonton Eskimos, John Atamian of the Calgary Stampeders, Johann Louw, professional boxer, Ron Hayter, Edmonton Alderman and Past President of the Alberta Amateur Baseball Association, and Jim Young of the B.C. Lions.

Among head table guests are Don Barry, U. of A. Golden Bears; Doug Messier, nine year professional hockey player with the Portland Buckaroos and operator of a summer hockey school in Drayton Valley this year; Allen Sulatycky, M.P. for Rocky Mountain Riding; Allen Ische, offensive guard with the Edmonton Eskimos; Billy Rose, former Brier Champion; Bob Lucas,

FR. ATHOL MURRAY

Tickets are now on sale at $25.00 per couple (man and woman) and $15.00 single.

Proceeds will be used by the Athletic Association to further the objectives of minor sport in the community. Directors hope that they might accomplish, by their own intiative, the generation of funds which are often obtained only by way of grants and donations.

Home Management Board Appointed

Town Council, at the regular meeting on Thursday, March 9, confirmed the appointment of members of the Local Management Board of the new senior citizens home.

The board will be chaired by County Councillor Ivan Vowk and members include Mr. Claude Albert, Mrs. C. Krabbe and Mr. Fred Pankewicz.

Councillor Betty Waugh was also named as town representative on the Meridian Foundation Board.

Council M. Helm, representative on the Recreation Board, made report to Council on the activities of the Recreation and Community Services Board of the town. In addition Council were advised that the equipping of the new community joint facilities in the Frank Maddock High School would cost approximately $7,000.00 in order to make this facility usable. The general opinion of Council indicated a feeling that the original contribution of $50,000.00 should have included the whole cost.

Council suggested that the matter of equipping the facility be referred to the Recreation Board for suggestions on methods of raising funds for purchase of necessary equipment.

Landowners Getting Raw Deal - Zander

Drayton Valley M.L.A. Rusty Zander called for a better deal for Alberta farmers in the Legislature last week. Mr. Zander was speaking at the close of the day and expected to speak again on Tuesday of this week.

The Tory MLA believes that landowners are getting unfair compensation for surface rights from such people as oil prospectors.

And he demanded in the legislature Thursday the resignation of the Right of Entry Arbitration Board who, he said, had been inefficient at arriving at proper land values.

He told the legislature that land sold by private citizens has been valued far lower than Crown land sold by the government for natural resource development in the same area.

Mr. Zander promised to introduced further details later in the session. He was particularly concerned with the problems of farmers in the area and expressed confidence that the Progressive Conservative government elected last summer would correct inequities that existed during the reign of Social Credit.

In Drayton Valley Saturday evening Mr. Zander indicated he is enjoying his first stint as an M.L.A., but also impressed with the amount of work involved.

He re-emphasized his grave concern about unfair compensation to farm residents in the surface rights matter.

Mr. Zander had planned to attend the Sportsmen's Dinner in Drayton Valley Friday evening but had been forced to cancel his plans in favor of the budget debate in the Legislative Assembly on the same evening.

Spring Ice a Death Trap

Early spring is a most dangerous time for anyone to tempt fate on the frozen surfaces of lakes and rivers.

Rotting ice can be very deceiving and a fatal trap for anyone who tests its strength with snow vehicle or skates. The best way to avoid trouble is to stay away from ice surfaces during break-up, but if you must cross ice of unknown thickness carry a long pole that would straddle the hole should you break through.

Keep a coil of rope in the car in case of accident. If someone should fall in, lie flat on the ice; and if other rescuers are present, have them hold your ankles or skates while you extend your rope or reach. If the victim is far out on the ice, several rescuers may form a human chain to reach him. During the rescue, reassure the victim. Above all, don't panic.

Ice sports are fun but don't try to prolong them past the normal season. Play it smart and safe.

Keep National Parks Natural

Thousands of words have already been written on the Village Lake Louise subject. These will be brief.

In our opinion the feeling of a National Park should be one of peaceful solitude among the grandeurs of nature. Accommodations and facilities need be no more than adequate.

Anything that will encourage a Coney Island atmosphere should not be tolerated. There's room outside the parks for those who wish to speculate in the promotion of tourist and recreation facilities.

"Chariots of the Gods"

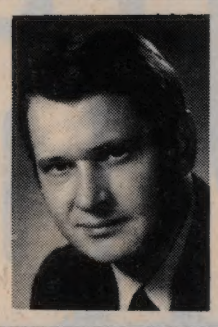
The CBC program "Chariot of the Gods" viewed here Sunday evening will likely awaken a new interest in U.F.O.s. The program presented a great deal of credible evidence to show that the earth was visited in the past by travellers from other planets.

If the inter-planetary travellers landed and were welcomed by earthlings of the day, why are the reputed outer-space visitors of today so leery of our company? Reportings are usually vague with the U.F.O.s generally departing at great speed, and as a rule received by non-viewers with a measure of skepticism.

Mankind has landed on the moon and is critically viewing the possibilities of other neighboring planets. Perhaps in the light of our space accomplishments in the span of a few short years, we shouldn't be too skeptical of U.F.O. reports.

Report From Parliament Hill

By Allen Sulatycky, M.P.



On the night of February 29, hours before the debate on the Speech from the Throne was to end, Conservative M.P. for the Yukon, Erik Nielsen was letting the government know what he thought of various of its present policies.

One which was in his line of fire was the Local Initiatives Program. Mr. Nielsen ended his criticism of this by asserting "... the quicker the Canadian people realize that taxpayer's money is being spent in this fashion, the better."

I agree with him on that point, because I am sure that when the overall results have been viewed, the program will be judged to have been a great success, and will garner high acclaim rather than be judged a failure as Mr. Nielsen would like.

Opposition critics were as speedy in their denunciation of the Opportunities for Youth Program as they were in their attempt to discredit the Local Initiatives Program. Opportunities for Youth turned out to be a great success, as I am sure the present venture will be.

Of course, there are problems in the execution of such a program. It is, one must remember however, a totally new type of plan, just as Opportunities for Youth was. There are bound to be a few mistakes made. In both programs, there may have been a very small number of ill-conceived projects approved. One should however, look at the vast majority when weighing the merits of the respective programs.

The constituency of Rocky Mountain has benefited greatly from the Local Initiatives Program. Here are some examples of projects now under way.

The golf course in the new Town of Fox Creek is being improved.

Repairs are being made on several schools in the Turner Valley area.

The Sunchild of Ochiese Bands at Rocky Mountain House are burning brush and clearing new land.

A campsite is being cleared for the Town of Hinton. Also, an addition to the Hinton Civic Centre is under construction.

Various town improvements are being undertaken in Grande Cache, Canmore, Blairmore and Blue Ridge.

Assistance was also provided in the staging of the World Cup Alpine Ski Meet in Banff.

162 new jobs were created by the projects. These projects alone represent a total contribution of one-quarter million dollars from the federal government.

In addition to these are quite a few other projects being carried out in all parts of our constituency.

I regard as the best point of the program that people all across Canada have been given the chance to decide on their own what there needs to be done in their own community, and then the opportunity to do it.

I can think of no better way for tax monies to be expended.

The Battle of The Bottle

THE FEMALE ALCOHOLIC

Until the 1950's, it was estimated there were five or six male alcoholics in the United States for every female alcoholic. By the 1960's the estimated ratio had dropped to four to one, or even lower. Those figures aren't conclusive. It could be that the number of female alcoholics is the same, but more of them are now seeking treatment.

The female alcoholic has always been the hidden figure of the shadowy disease. She has been at home, hiding the poison that would destroy her in clothes hampers, the linen closets. She couldn't lose her job because she doesn't have one. And more often than not, her husband works as hard as she does to keep her secret.

The female alcoholic has also been a victim of the double standard. A man can overindulge sometimes and society puts up with it. But a woman who drinks too much in public is socially unacceptable. So she hides her drinking, at the same time denying to herself and her husband that it is a problem. Until the problem is so great that it can no longer be hidden.

Alcoholism isn't restricted to housewives, of course. It can just as easily affect career girls and schoolteachers, nurses and actresses. The alcoholic women are the housewives who nip all day and look for afternoon bridge games where there is plenty of liquor, or the career girls who specialize in long lunches and late afternoon business appointments in cocktail lounges.

The symptoms and the consequences are the same as for a man: they begin to lose control of their drinking and their lives. Left alone, they would be without family, without a job, without hope.

The road to recovery is the same, also. The disease must be recognized first. Once its existence is acknowledged, it's time for professional help.

Drinking -- for better or worse -- is a part of living. For most people, alcohol is the magic tonic that helps to make merry at happy occasions like birthdays, weddings and other celebrations. But alcohol has its other side -- its bad side -- that rears its ugly head when the drinker cannot control his drinking. It's a problem that has been with mankind since man first began drinking.

Prohibition hasn't helped. It was a disaster in this country, and it proved inadequate at other times in history. The oldest system of codified law, issued in Babylon by Hammurabi some 200 years before the birth of Christ, dealt with abuses of alcohol. And the Chinese, between the years 1100 B.C. and 1400 B.C. enacted and repealed prohibition laws more that 40 times.

Even with the long history of problem drinking, it is only within the past generation that alcoholism has come to be regarded as a health problem rather that one of morality. We have begun to treat the alcoholic rather than to punish him.

Thanks to recovered alcoholics who are now speaking out about the ravages of the disease they have fought lawmakers and health officials are working harder than ever before to combat the problem. It was Senator Hughes who was active in enacting federal ledislation that will put millions of dollars towards the study and treatment of alcoholism.

Slowly, the slogan, "Alcoholism is a disease, not a disgrace," is being accepted. And slowly, too, people are coming to see the ironic truth in an old phrase: dead drunk. Because if he doesn't stop drinking, the drunk will be dead.

Alcoholism is a disease. It is characterized by three symptoms: chronic drinking, compulsive drinking and uncontrollable drinking.

Alcoholism can be checked, but you must first know the warning signals of the alcoholic ...

-- difficult to get along with when drinking.

-- drinks because of "depression"

-- drinks to calm nerves

-- drinks until "dead drunk"

-- has blackouts and can't remember drinking bouts.

-- gulps drinks

-- hides liquor

-- lies about drinking

-- neglects to eat when drinking.

-- neglects family and job when drinking.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

By Kevin Peterson and Don Sellar (of the Calgary Herald)

The Alberta Legislature has approved the printing of a formal record of debates and speeches made in the House -- but not before defeat of a Social Credit motion for a code of conduct from the press gallery.

In one of the first decisions the House has made under the Conservatve administration, MLAs voted unanimous approval for an Alberta Hansard after a three-hour debate.

The lengthy debate came after the opposition Socreds had proposed an amendment to the government-sponsored motion saying the Legislature should give formal recognition to the press gallery after asking press members to submit a code of conduct to the House.

The amendment, put forward by Robert Clark (SC--Olds-Didsbury, caused an immediate stormy rebuttal by Roy Farran (PC--Calgary North Hill), until recently the publisher of Calgary's North Hill News.

"The member should keep his cotton-picking hands off the journalists," Mr. Farran said angrily. "I'm astounded this proposal would even be made."

A torrent of similar criticism from MLAs eventually led the Socreds to pull back their amendment and the House quickly approved the printing of Hansard.

An editor of the Hansard was appointed before the session started, pending approval by the House. J. Peter Swan, the first Hansard editor, was the man who prepared a report for the new Conservative government which recommended a Hansard be created.

First editions of Hansard are already available. Government spokesman said they expect cost of producing the complete record of proceedings will be $45,000 to $55,000 a year.

The decision means only Prince Edward Island does not now have a Hansard which records the debates and speeches in the provincial legislatures. In the Alberta Hansard, alterations by MLAs will be limited to correction of grammar and punctuation as well as ensuring proper Parliamentary forms are used.

Free copies of Hansard will be available to libraries, MLAs and newspapers which are approved by the Speaker, who will supervise the production of the record.

Annual subscriptions will cost $15 if copies are to be mailed daily, $12.50 for weekly mailings and $10 for a single volume of the entire year's proceedings. Daily Hansards will cost 25 cents.

Also before the House for approval this week were government-backed motions which will allow live radio and television coverage of proceedings, which will permit government backbenchers to introduce bills normally handled by cabinet ministers and which will set aside one hour a week for debate of bills not sponsored by the government.

All of the motions, including the Hansard, are part of the Tory promise of "open government" for Albertans. Premier Lougheed has indicated the work load individual MLAs face will be stepped up considerably at this first session of the Conservative government.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Western Review,
The Editor,
Dear Sir:

I do not know how the proposed airport came into existance without a plebiscite but feel that this should have been brought to a vote before becoming a reality.

I am not against an Airport for this area but Iam very much upset over having one so close to our residential area. Four miles in the "Jet Age" is much too close. People from Leduc can tell you that the noise is certainly a very disturbing thing.

Does anyone else feel they wish to give up our peaceful air here?

Sincerely,
Marion Palmer.

Canada has had thirty-nine postmasters general since Confederation.

Rebels Knocked Out of Provincial Play-offs

By DOUG BARNES

Hockey fans in Drayton Valley were treated to some great hockey last week. The Rebels won their first game in the semi-final league playoffs last Tuesday against the Camrose Maroons. Leading that playoff one game to none.

But things were not as rosy Saturday night. The Wetaskiwin Colonels downed the Rebels 6 to 4 in the game and 10 to 5 in the two game series. This knocked the Rebels out of this year's provincial B playoffs.

A record crowd saw a good hockey game. The same was true last Tuesday night.

The Rebels came out of that game with a win 6 to 5 over the Camrose Maroons. This is a best of five series. The next game will be in Camrose Tuesday night, March 14th and the third game of the series back in Drayton Valley Thursday, March 16th.

In Tuesday's game with Camrose the Rebels had them down 5 to 0 at one time during the second period. But the Maroons are a good hockey club and don't go down easily. By the 5:48 mark of the third period the score was 5 to 4 for the Rebels.

Then Frank Novosel scored what proved to be the winner at 6:41. The Maroons pulled within one goal again at 14:01. This ended the scoring in the game.

Henry Hodgson led the Rebels with two goals and one assist. Only seven penalties were handed out by referee Daryl Havrelock, three to Drayton Valley and four to Camrose. Yet it was a good hard hitting game.

Saturday night Ray Boivert led the Colonels to their win over the Rebels scoring three goals. This game was a hard-skating affair with both teams going full out for three periods. Real playoff hockey.

Wetaskiwin scored the first goal with only 25 seconds gone in the first period. This put them 4 goals up in the series. I think if Rebels could have scored the first one there might have been a different winner.

The Rebels deserve a lot of credit for a great effort trying to overcome the three goals they were down starting the game.

I'm not a believer in two-game total point series but in Provincial playoffs I don't know how else you would do it. Mainly because of the miles of travelling involved.

There will not be a provincial hockey title in Drayton Valley this year. But the Rebels can gain another first for them in this league by winning the league championship. There again, they have a tough row to hoe. Camrose is a good hockey club. I think this semi-final series will go the full five games.

Sorry no scoring summary this week.

Twenty-one Years Rat-Free

This is an enviable record, and one for which all Albertans can be justly proud. J. B. Gurba, head of the provincial crop protection and pest control branch, says Alberta has gained international fame as a "Rat Free Province". It is estimated 25,100 rats were killed and thousands more were kept out along the 380 mile eastern Alberta border, stretching from Montana to Cold Lake.

In 1971, sixty-nine infestations were eradicated, 106 in 1970 and ninety during 1969. About 19 tons of ready-mixed, 2425 packages of water soluable baits were used in 1971.

Warfarin is the bait presently used, however in certain parts of the world the rats have developed an immunity to it. Tests were started last year to evaluate other types of bait.

Several rats penetrated farther into the province via transportation facilities and were destroyed by Pest Control Officers. The support and co-operation of the public prevented invating rats from becoming established in Alberta. Only by a rat concious public reporting these sightings can they be controlled.

Full House for Boxing Card

Neil Austin of Vancouver, B.C. won a close but unanimous decision over Dale Anderson of Rocky Mountain House in the feature bout on the Breton Boxing Card last Saturday evening. These two top boys battled it out in a three round contest at the 132 pound weight limit. Austin used his superior reach to edge out the Rocky Mountain boy in one of the top boxing exhibitions to be seen in these parts in quite a while. The boxing card was held in the Breton Curling Rink Hall with a full house in attendance.

Other bouts in the card were as follows: Jerry Day of the South Side Legion in Edmonton scored a knockout over Robert Lowhorn of the Blackfoot Indian Reserve at 1:51 of the first round in the 178 pound class. Kenny Sorenson of Rocky Mountain House lost a close split decision to Glen O-Connor of Langley, B. C. in a bout in the 100 pound weight class. Rickie Klippert of Drayton Valley won over Barry Collins of Vancouver in a 132 pound bout. Eddie McCaffery 70 pounds of Vancouver edged Breton's Jimmie Knight in a torrid scrap. Two B. David Knight of Breton won a unanimous decision over Hugh McCaffery of Vancouver at 80 pounds. Ray Duperron of Drayton Valley lost to Keith Hunter of Langley, B.C. when the referee stopped the contest in the second round. Breton's Kelly Stannard won by a good margin over Mike Yager of Langley, B. C. in a bout at 90 pounds. Steven Strickland of Drayton Valley looked sharp in defeating Kerry Gallager of Vancouver by a 85 pound weight limit. Joe McCaffery of Vancouver stopped Barry Black Rabbit of the Blackfoot Reserve at 1:04 of the second round at 100 pounds. Bruce Anderson of Rocky Mountain House won a close split decision over Ron Elgie of Langley, B. C. in a 85 pound bout. Lorne Lee of Breton won a split decision from Robert Calf Robe of the Blackfoot Reserve. In the curtain raiser Vancouver's Martin Rowan edged Eddie Lauer of Drayton Valley in an interesting 70 pound bout.

The inter-provincial card promoted and organized by Larry Knight was an excellent event featuring keen and spectacular competition all the way.

New Mobile Feed Mill in Operation from Buck Lake

Robert Stewart of Buck Lake has opened a new Mobile Feed Milling service in the district with plans to serve the Buck Lake, Alder Flats, Drayton Valley, Winfield, Breton, Hoadly and Faraway areas on a regular route basis, calling on each of his farm customers every two weeks.

The Champion Mobile Feed Mill is the most modern complete feed mill, mounted on a truck and the only one of its kind in the area. There are, however, over 100 such mills in the three Prairie Provinces serving over 10,000 farmers.

Any type of feed rations can be processed right on the farm. The farmer is not required to supply any labour or start any of his equipment. Mr. Stewart backs his mill up to the grainary and sucks the grain into the mill where it is processed. Hay or straw can be chopped and blended with the grain if desired, giving complete control of the balance in the diet of cattle, calves or sows. This results in better feed conversion, utilization of grain and roughage, cheaper grains, no wasted feed less risk and less labour in feeding.

The complete line of proven Astromix vitamin and mineral premixes is carried right on the mill along with soybean meal and fresh molasses. The finished feed is then stored in the farmer's bin or self feeder.

"Favorite Recipes with Rapeseed Oil" is available from district agriculturists and the publications office of the Alberta department of agriculture.

Summer Campaign Against Wabamun Weeds Planned

A stepped-up drive to control weed growth in Lake Wabamun, has been launched by Calgary Power Ltd., with the assistance of some cottage owners on the lake and the provincial government.

T. D. Stanley, manager of Production for Calgary Power announced recently that the company will be acquiring almost $100,000 worth of weed-cutting equipment and will award a contract to begin harvesting weeds in the lake late in May.

Calgary Power operates two thermal plants on Lake Wabamun, and uses water from the lake for cooling. Residents of the lake have complained that the introduction of the warmer water has hastened the growth of weeds in the lake, harming the area as a recreational site.

With no conclusive evidence as to what effects warmer water has on weed growth, company officials stated recently that the generating plants may have some influence on the growth of the weeds. But the company says it must be recognized that other factors could also contribute to the growth.

Walter Saponja, a senior company engineer, says "We know for certain tha nutrient build-up is a prime cause of weed growth, and if we can reduce nutrient levels this should further retard growth." The sources of nutrients are both natural and artificial and include processes such as agricultural run-off and sewage.

Last year the provincial government purchased and operated a weed cutter, a transporter and an unloading device for use at the lake. This year they are cooperating by making their equipment available to Calgary Power Ltd. for operation on the lake, and have provided the power company with the results of their experience gained last year.

One more weed harvester and three more transporters will be added by Calgary Power.

The custom-built harvesters operate as small barges cutting below the surface of the lake in areas where weed growth has reached the surface. This occurs in areas of the lake where the depth does not exceed 10 or 12 feet, since sunlight is a requisite for any plant growth.

Last year's experience showed that one transporter was not enough to keep pace with the weed cutter. Therefore, this year each of the two cutters in operation will be supported by two transporters. It is anticipated that the project will employ about 10 men -- perhaps double that if two shifts are required.

Operation will begin much earlier this year with the last week of May as the target for start-up. The harvesting will be approached systematically with particular emphasis on the recreational areas at the east end of the lake, including Moonlight Bay.

"We certainly agree with the government and the residents that this lake must be preserved as a healthy recreational area," Mr. Saponja said.

"The particular weed that we are dealing with at Lake Wabamum is a relatively new resident of the lake," he added, "And it is only within the past three or four years that it has become a problem, impeding sailing and boating in the recreational area.

"It became obvious after last summer that drastic action was required to overcome this problem. It was also obvious that Calgary Power, as the lake's largest resident, should be the leader in this battle."

The unknown factor is how many times the weeds require cutting during a summer season Mr. Saponja said.

The company spokesman said, despite the unknowns, the concerted approach will be systematic and efficient.

Fisheries biologists don't want complete removal of the weeds because it could have an adverse effect on fish in the lake.

NEWS NOTES FROM THE D.A.

Phone Stony Plain 777-2231 between 8:30 a.m. and 5:00 p.m.

E. C. LOWE, District Agriculturist — TOM BROWN, Asst. Dist. Agriculturist

In Drayton Valley each Wednesday at Sekura Auction Mart from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m.

Just a brief note about the Federal Minister of Agriculture's visit here -- most of his questions related to grain marketing in this mixed farming area. We must be on the right track offering the production and marketing short course in rapeseed and cereal grains.

I questioned Mr. Olson about the most effective ways of expanding demand for agricultural products. Does any potential exist for developing new uses for agricultural products? He indicated conflict may rise here. Dairy farmers are already complaining about synthetics and new uses for rapeseed oil conflict with the dairy industry.

Obtaining a larger domestic demand by encouraging immigration is not the answer as there are problems incorporating large groups of new Canadians into the work force. Furthermore, do these new Canadians have effective demand? (ie. not only wanting a product but having the money to pay for it.)

Presently, programs are leaving demand alone and letting the market set the price. If market price is too low, there are deficiency payments. Danger here is that producers use the market price plus the deficiency in planning production. Export programs also run into opposition. For example, when we employ tariffs, can we justify that the resulting lower standard of living for all Canadians is an acceptable price to pay for achieving a higher standard of living for a selected group?

Export subsidies upset the balance in international trade and encourage development of excess capacity. Anti-dumping agreements prevent nations from exporting at a lower price than cost of production.

Turning to other current events, an average final payment was 19.64 cents per bushel in 1970 - 71 deliveries for wheat producers. Still the producer will receive only $1.48 for the top grade of wheat. However, the 130 million bushel sale of wheat this week to Russia was big news in the Canadian grain market.

The initial price for barley will be increased by five cents a bushel from 91 to 96 bushels to encourage producers to produce a consistent volume. Otto Lang, Federal Minister in charge, announced that wheat and oats prices will remain unchanged.

YES!

Rocky Mountain needs another STRONG Progressive-Conservative in the Parliament of Canada

CASTON, Doug 1

Balloting at the nominating conventions will be by preferencial voting --- so it is essential that Members mark their first choice with the figure "1" --- an "X" will mean a spoiled ballot.

☆ Family Man

Doug Caston and his wife Vi and their seven children (three at home and four married) have been a vibrant part of life in their community for many years.

☆ Community Man

There has been very little going on in the area that Doug through his newspaper and community participation has not had a hand in during the past 30 years (except for service with the RCAF during the war).

☆ Business Experience

As a businessman employing a modest staff he has been beset by and solved many of the problems that operators of small businesses are heir to.

☆ For the Everyday Man

When Doug has taken up the pen it has been with the good of his community in mind. Injustice to anyone, especially the ordinary guy, gets him mad and this is when he thinks he is performing his best community role.

☆ Politics

Through the years Doug has worked and voted for whomever he considered the best men available without worrying about party labels.

Doug's father was a Saskatchewan Conservative when this took some courage during the Liberal regime of that province's early years.

In his teens, as many young men do, Doug experimented with the ideas of monetary reform as advocated by the early Social Credit movement, etc.

Experience has brought him around to the political philosophy of his Conservative father who held that government is for the individual and not the other way around.

☆ Not Afraid

Doug Caston is not afraid to make decisions;

Is not afraid of criticism when he thinks he's right;

Has never been afraid of hard work — he would never have chosen newspapering if he had been;

He has always faced competition head on;

He is not afraid to learn from experience;

Having lived most of his life in the semi-public fish bowl of newspapering where it's open season on editors all the time his taking up of the responsibilities of life in the political arena should be right up his alley.

And he's not afraid to ask for your support in facing up to the principles he believes in.

☆ Experience that Counts

Serving eight months as Member of Parliament for Jasper-Edson, Doug Caston is more than ever firmly convinced that the most important function of an MP is to look after his Constituents. (His record of near perfect attendance in the House speaks for itself).

The people of Rocky Mountain, spreading as it does from Swan Hills to Waterton Lakes, need a Member who will answer his correspondence, follow through on constituency business and still attend Parliament in session. Doug has a proven record in this and states he will continue to conscienteously get things done when re-elected.

If the Rocky Mountain P-C's choose the right man he will become the next MP for this constituency --- so the cumulative choice of the ten nominating meetings is crucial.

Choose the man who took over from Dr. Hugh Horner in the old Jasper - Edson Riding when he was elected Provincially

You will be well represented by Nominating CASTON for Rocky Mountain

Thinking Day Observed

Thinking Day this year was observed by the Tuesday Brownies of the 3rd Drayton Valley Pack, by each Brownie doing something extra at home to earn 10 pennies for the World Friendship Fund.

The pennies were taped inside a booklet and will be sent to the Friendship Fund, which promotes guiding around the world, helps send trainers to establish the Guide Program in new and Associate countries, assist in refugee camps and aid Guides in disaster areas.

SUB-MITS

FROM THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Our thanks to the many parents who took advantage of Open House last week. No doubt you saw many things that were different than when you went to school. It would be of help to the staff if we knew your reactions to this type of Education Week Program. Did you profit from it? Would you like to come more often during the year? Is there something you wished to see and didn't get a chance to? Please pass on your comments to any of the teachers.

And speaking of Open House, did you hear about the story that comes from St. Anthony's Separate School? It seems that during a discussion of the New Math someone asked what the parents can do to help their children. Came a voice loud and clear from the back of the room "Just pray, man, pray."

Here are a few grade 6 writing comparisons from Mr. Betton's room to tickle your funny bone.

- A dentist's drill is like a teacher because sometimes it must hurt you to do its job.
- Life is like a soap bubble because when it pops it's dead.
- A girl is like glue because it sticks like a girl sticks to a boy.
- A calendar is like a mirror because they both tell you something.

Wabamun W.I. Members To Attend Convention

The March meeting of the Wabamun W.I. was held at the home of Mrs. J. Zur with 13 ladies present and two ladies joined later on in the afternoon. Each lady was to make an Easter hat and wear to this meeting. There were some dandies, which took a little making.

Plans were made to cater for a dinner for a group later on. Plans were completed for those who wanted to attend the W.I. Conference in Edmonton on March 7th and 8th.

It was discussed where the next meeting was to be held and finally settled that it would be in the United Church basement as two other groups are invited to attend. There will be slides of Adelaide Hoodless shown.

This meeting will be held on April 5th at 2:00 p.m. so they are looking for a real good attendance.

The tour of the Building Products plant was cancelled because of the cold weather.

The members who celebrated their birthdays or who will be celebrating theirs were Mrs. E. J. Woollard, Mrs. Bryant, Mrs. J. Labuda and Mrs. D. Gilles, Greetings to one and all. A lovely lunch was served by the hostess Mrs. J. Zur and the co-hostess Mrs. R. M. Watt with a birthday cake made by Mrs. Zur.

Mrs. J. Latchford won the tea prize.

Agricultural Board Meets

Minutes of the meeting of the Agricultural Committee, County of Parkland No. 31, held in the county office, Stony Plain on Friday, February 18.

The meeting was called to order at 10:10 a.m. by chairman Peter Bakker, with Maurice McCullagh, Ivan Vowk, Jacob W. Fuhr, Les Miller, George Mann, D.A. Earle Lowe, Agricultural Fieldman Wm. Moelhoff, Otto Reich, and secretary Len Webber present.

Minutes of the meeting held January 25 were adopted subject to correction that the secretary be authorized to attend the Agricultural Service Board Conference.

An oral progress report on the Canada Manpower course presently being conducted was given by Assistant Agricultural Fieldman Otto Reich.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE RECOMMENDATIONS

Mr. Earl Nelson, representing the Agricultural Advisory Committee, was present to present recommendations from the Advisory Committee as follows:

1. The Advisory Committee recommends that the school committee review their policy of school closure to read: "Schools to be closed in the County of Parkland when the temperature falls to -40 degrees or lower at the International Airport at 6:00 a.m. Closure to be announced on CFRN no later than 6:30 a.m."

2. This recommendation dealt with the closure of the Gainford grain elevator and reads as follows:

"Whereas the Advisory Committee feels that prices and quotas at the present time are the cause of reduced deliveries which results in operational loss and whereas at present, elevators once closed are not reopened under present Wheat Board policy, and whereas no compensation is paid for distant deliveries to other points and no other facilities exist for handling grain in this community, we recommend that the Gainford elevator be kept open on a seasonal basis. The Agricultural Advisory Committee supports action taken by the Gainford community in preserving this service and recommends that County Council do the same.

Reeve Les Miller advised that recommendation No. 1 has been dealt with by the School Committee.

It was moved that a committee be established to contact United Grain Growers in an endeavor to review the elevator situation in Gainford and explore other avenues as well.

1972 FORAGE PROGRAM

The Agricultural Fieldman reported that 75,000 pounds of Forage seed have been ordered from various seed companies.

The fieldman was asked to present a full report, as to quantities and prices--comparing them with last year, for the next meeting.

A bill, "Noxious Weeds Act, 1972" to be prepared at the provincial legislative assembly, was discussed.

It was moved that the next meeting of the Agricultural Committee be held Monday, April 3. The meeting was adjourned at 12:30 p.m.

Statistics Reported on Family Expenditures

The average Alberta family devotes more of its resources to clothing, recreation, travel and transportation, and less to food, shelter and medical care, than the average Canadian family according to information released by the Prices Division of Statistics Canada.

The division made public tabulations based on a 1970 survey of family expenditures, to discover how Canadian families and individuals spent money during 1969. Results of the survey provide, a national spending pattern, derived from a sample of 15,140 representatives.

The report shows that the average expenditure per family in Alberta ($8,183) was exceeded only in Ontario ($9,112) and was nearly $2,400 greater than the average expenditure in tenth-ranked Prince Edward Island.

Food, the largest single expense item in all provinces, absorbed a smaller portion of total expenditures in Alberta (16.8%) than in any other province, substantially below the national average of 18.7 per cent.

Alberta expenditure on shelter (14.7%) was also below the national average (15.2%) and absorbed a smaller portion of the family budget than other provinces except Manitoba (14.6%), New Brunswick (13.7%)and Newfoundland (13.1%). In actual dollars, however, the $1,200 average Alberta expenditure was exceeded only by that of Ontario ($1,410) and British Columbia ($1,247).

Household operation in Alberta accounted for 4 per cent of total expenditure, just below the national average (4.1%), but more went to furnishings and equipment (5.1%) than in any other province.

Alberta led all other provinces in automobile and truck ownership (7.8% of families reported owning one or more) and expenditure on travel and transportation accounted for 14.3 per cent of the family budget, well over the national average (13.1%).

Livestock Sales Reach New High

The estimated value of livestock sales at the Edmonton Public Stockyards reached a new record in 1971, when totals came to $79,803,202. as compared to 1970's $77,901,440. This shows a 1 1/2 per cent, or over $900,000., increase, according to the 1971 Edmonton Livestock Market Report.

Combining Edmonton Stockyards receipts with Edmonton Packing Plants receipts, sales show a 2.5 per cent increase, also a record high.

As compared to total Canadian sales, Edmonton Stockyards ranked second highest in cattle and calf sales. Cattle sales were up 4.5 per cent and calf sales up 14.8 per cent.

Only sheep and lamb sales showed a decline-down 2.3% from 1970.

Average per cent prices for slaughter steers and heifers were $1.00 to $2.10 higher, slaughter cows were the same as last year, and bulls averaged slightly below 1970. Good feeder steers averaged 50 cents per cwt. higher, with lighter weight steers and good stock steer calves as much as $2.75 /cwt. above 1970 levels.

Hog prices sharply declined in 1971. The average base price for slaughter hogs was $21.85, down $6.62 from 1970.

The peak slaughter cattle and hog prices were established in December of 1971, with choice and good spring lambs selling best throughout May and June.

In late April, the hog price reached the lowest it has been since 1960 -- $18.25 base price, as compared to 1960's Grade "A" dressed price low of $16.00/ cwt.

Senior Citizens Plan Activities

The regular meeting of the Senior Citizens' Club of Drayton Valley and area was held February 24 in the Elks Hall.

Plans were made for summer activities, with 10 new or renewal members signing up. Mrs. M. Melany is back after a long visit with relatives in Michigan.

The rest of the evening was spent as "Member's Choice"--cards, chinese checkers, or just visiting.

Thanks to Mrs. Lessie Nelson of the Royal Purple who was hostess for the evening. The next regular meeting will be held March 30, with a club members' bingo planned for that evening.

Jack Pine Grazing Association Preparing for Coming Season

The prime concern of an operation such as the Jack Pine Grazing Assocation is the production of red meats--cattle and/or sheep and some reserve.

However, its very intent encompasses much more that this primary use--it covers ecology, water resources, fish and game, and the possibility of a supervised recreational activity if such an area lends itself to this particular kind of program. Proximity to large urban centres and terrain situations are relevant factors.

The Jack Pine reserve has been well-planned in this respect. It must be pointed out that grazing reserves are a three-way effort, involving provincial, federal and local patronage. Reserves are situated in areas that do not lend themselves readily to individual effort, defined perhaps as fringe areas of agricultural production.

Initial meeting was held April 26, 1968. That was the year of general rules being sequeled to the model constitution and by-laws applicable to the multi-usage of grazing reserves or lands.

Administration is a voluntary and non-profit proposition. Until 1971, only out-of-pocket expenses were reimbursed.

The grass potential was estimated at 600-700 cow units. Only dry females or bred cows were accepted in 1968, limiting it to a dry-pasture year with no steers.

1969 was again a dry-pasture year, with grass potential of 1000 units divided into three pastures. Complete potential was not utilized and the season was lengthened due to abundant pas-pasture.

The addition of a new pasture made it desirable to add a wet pasture. Last season was the first year for such an operation, and saw a dozen exceptional beef bulls in the wet pasture. Grass conditions were again excellent.

With excellent growing conditions, the additional pastures will be ready for occupancy in the coming year--entailing an additional 2,000 acres of new grasslands. Cow unit potential is considered to by 1,300-1,400.

Additonal developments are not definite. The lands left have a great deal of muskeg tracts and are being probed by the Department of Lands and Forests to ascertain feasibility of production.

This is a self-help program instituted for the small and usually struggling operation. Its returns are not limited to individuals--it pumps new life into the economy of a community as well as the nation, and upgrades stock.

At this time the organization is without the services of a qualified pasture manager, Mr. Mickey MacNamee having retired. Applications are now being received, and potential managers are being interviewed by department personnel.

Any inquiries can be directed to the Department of Lands and Forests or the the secretary of Jack Pine Grazing Association. C. J. Goertz, R.R.1, Duffield.

Tories' travelling trio:

Rift develops over ballots

HUGH GOURLAY

By STEPHANI KEER
of The Albertan

BANFF — An unexpected rift developed Wednesday over balloting procedures between two of the three candidates seeking the Progressive Conservative nomination for the federal Rocky Mountain riding.

Surrounded by 40 angry constituents, Hugh Gourlay and Joe Clark hurled charges and counter-charges back and forth, accompanied by the shouts of people who thought they might not be allowed to vote.

Balloting procedures provide that ballots are distributed before the candidates start to speak and that after the first speech starts, no more ballots will be handed out.

Mr. Gourlay, campaigning in his home town, said that on Tuesday night in Coleman this procedure had been ignored. Constituency president Malverm Davies ruled at that meeting that if all three candidates consented, the late arrivals could cast ballots.

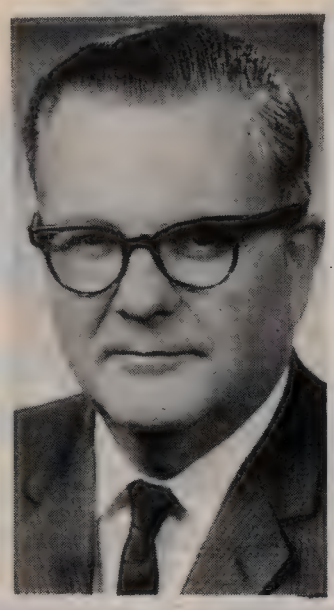
The Banff and Coleman meetings are part of a series of 10 constituency meetings to choose a Conservative for the vast riding.

In Banff Wednesday, Mr. Clark opposed a suggestion that late arrivals be allowed to vote.

"Tuesday night some of Mr. Clark's friends were late," Mr. Gourlay said, "and we agreed to allow them to vote."

"Ladies and gentlemen, you have just heard from your unity candidate," Mr. Clark countered. "This is surely an unusual way to cultivate unity within the party."

Mr. Clark said he was not willing to deviate from the rules. The third candidate, Doug Caston, did not involve himself in the dispute except to indicate through one of his campaign workers that he was willing to allow late distribution of ballots.



DOUG CASTON

Last election, Mr. Caston ran as an independent Conservative against Mr. Gourlay.

Mr. Clark eventually agreed to a compromise suggested by his advisers, so that people who had not yet cast ballots could vote if they signed an affadavit stating they arrived after the ballot distribution was completed, or that they had not been told they were to pick up ballots before the speeches started.

One of the strongest defenders of Mr. Clark's original position was his mother, Mrs. Charles Clark, who said the people who were late for the Coleman meeting "were not friends of Mr. Clark's."

One woman, a party worker in the Banff area, told Mr. Clark, "These people came here as Conservatives, not supporters of Mr. Gourlay, and they're going away Liberals.

"For me, it's Allen (Sulatycky, the Liberal incumbent) all the way," said one constituent.

JOE CLARK

Mr. Davies at one point told the crowd they could attend a nomination meeting in Jasper tonight if they still wished to cast ballots. Jasper is several hours from Banff by car.

Before the compromise allowing them to vote was reached, several constituents had angrily stalked out of the hall.

Member Speaks In Throne Speech Debate

Mr. Speaker, I also wish to add my congratulations to others already expressed in this House on your elevation to the position of Speaker of this House. I know that with your past experience, your good judgment in the past and fair-play concept, you will indeed give all of us in this House a sense of security - that you want all members to be heard, regardless of which side they sit.

Mr. Speaker, may I take a few moments to pay my respects to our leader and Premier of this province. It is indeed a pleasure to have worked for his leadership for the party, but it is certainly a greater pleasure to work with him for the betterment of all people of Alberta.

Our Premier is a dedicated man, who considers the well-being of the individual person first. This is why Bill No. 1, the Rights of the Individual, was the bill of prime inportance to him and our government. It is people before party and it is open government. Those of us who have worked in local government for years, who found the armour of the previous government impregnable, can see the difference and feel it.

Mr. Speaker, referring to the Speech from the Throne regarding the new role for M.L.A.s on the government side - being involved in structuring government policy in open government certainly does not appeal to the honourable member from Drumheller because he feels that his side of the House would be classed as second-class citizens. I'm just wondering if the party he represents took this very position for the past 36 years.

Mr. Speaker, the Throne Speech indeed is one of the finest on record, and perhaps all the goodies could not be wrapped in the same package all at once. But "now" and I stress the "now", the senior citizens, the mentally and physically handicapped and those engaged in agriculture are top priority for our government.

Mr. Speaker, the constituency that I represent is the oil capital of the world and for Alberta it was and is what Fort Knox is to the United States, but I must say that it was only a stepchild in the member family.

Can you imagine Mr. Speaker a constituency without a senior citizen's home or without a nursing home? Some of our senior citizens have had to be moved over one hundred miles to a home, and those in need of nursing services are even more difficult to place because even though they are more than one hundred miles away, the homes have a three to six month waiting list. This is why our active treatment hospitals are filled with senior citizens - for they have no other place to go. Too long our senior citizens who have pioneered this province and have endured every hardship to give you and I a better province in which to live, have been classed as second-class citizens or the forgotten class all together. I am happy that my government has recognized their need.

There is of course another problem for the senior citizen in the rural areas of the province, and I feel it would certainly be a welcome relief if Section 188, subsection (2) of The Municipal Government Act were amended, which now reads "Any municipality or rate payer requesting such services shall pay for use of the machinery at a rate not less than the rate paid by the Government of Alberta for rental or similar equipment". You will note that only one word needs to be changed and that one word is "shall" - to be changed to "may" -- and this will give the municipalities and counties power to give our senior citizens in the rural areas the needed services. Surely they are deserving of this change.

RUSTY ZANDER

Mr. Speaker, it is encouraging to note in the Throne Speech that importance will be given to the secondary road system of this province, although brought forward by the Socred government in 1965. They found it only convenient to move in this direction in 1971, only because it was an election year.

We in rural Alberta know the crying need for better roads. We are thankful to the former government for the many bridges constructed, but now we have bridges and poor rural roads. Some location of bridges were poorly planned and of course some were built for political reasons. I will refer to one only, Mr. Speaker. Just west of the city, there is a bridge known as the Genesse Bridge built some years ago at a cost of almost $1 million dollars, and only a rough trail (well, let's call it a road) leading north and south, connecting to major highways. Very few people use this bridge because of the dangerous condition of the road. For all intents and purposes, this bridge could have been constructed in the Sahara desert and received similar use. Perhaps the former government should have looked at their counterparts in British Columbia. They built their highways first and then the bridges.

Education must be redirected to training of younger citizens in trades and jobs that are available not after Grade 12 but before. We have too many graduates with Ph. D.s running around looking for jobs, but are not trained for jo' that are available, and retraining of some must begin "Now" - to take those off Social Assistance and make them become better citizens of this province.

FORSTER'S TERN

A striking white tern with black cap, black-tipped orange bill and orange feet and legs. Found on larger marshes particularly those adjoining lakes. Closely resembles the common tern. Nests on floating masses of reeds, muskrat houses or on the ground, the eggs, usually three, are dull ochre or olive green splattered with dark brown. Small fish and crayfish make up a large part of the tern's food though insects are also taken. Fish are captured by a headlong dive, the bird frequently disappearing beneath the water.

Mr. Speaker, I extend an open invitation to any member of this House to fly over and examine, and get a bird's eye view of the finest recreation area west of this fair capital - to see the Brazeau Dam and Canal - because words cannot describe the utter desolation and mess created by the former government by flooding the area before the forested area was cleared.

Mr. Speaker, if the people of this province would have received 5 cents for every tree which grew in the area flooded, the people of Alberta would have received something of cash value and the cost of cleanup would have been less costly in 1959. A beautiful recreation area was made desolate by foolish planning and the cost of cleanup now will be 10 times greater than before. And to know that the former government gave an interest-free loan of approximately 12 Million dollars to create this horrible mess is something the former government wants us to forget, and make no mention of.

To destroy one's resources for the sake of another makes no sense, Mr. Speaker. It is distasteful to me to even mention the havoc created, without supervision, in the frantic haste to discover oil in the western and south western part of my constituency - having no regard for salvaging our forest products - making huge cuts in side-hills, and the drilling of seismic holes which are still flowing fresh underground water. Since 1954-55 many have crated. The erosion has taken its toll in forming huge craters and gullies. So surely Mr. Speaker, we don't have to destroy our environment and other resources in order to get access to one certain resource. Mr. Speaker it is certain that we should leave our soil - our environment - in the same shape as we found it in when we arrived in this provence. Yes, we should be determined to leave it in better condition.

Let me mention one vital concern of people engaged in agriculture within my constituency. This was mentioned before in this House on Monday, March 6th, by the Honourable member from Fairview, regarding the rural electrification and extension of rural lines. We find in this province two companies primarily engaged in this type of work, and this creates a monopoly within this field.

We find that extensions in my area run in price as follows: 1 1/4 miles - $4,436; in another area, 1 1/2 miles - $5,600.

Just four or five years' ago, we had construction in the same area running about $2,226 per 1 1/2 miles of construction. This price has since gone up 100 per cent within this time period. Wire has gone up 32 per cent, and the price of poles has risen 14 per cent. Where are all the other costs? Are they labour? I would like to know.

Farmers are now living in an agricultural community without the benefit of power, and it's high time this matter was investigated.

Regarding agriculture, there are still some former government policies in effect which are detrimental to some farmers in the province of Alberta. Mr. Speaker, may I at this time draw these to the attention of this Assembly?

Young farmers, who we propose to help, are asked to pay eleven years in advance for the surface rentals received from various oil companies. If this is not bad enough, we charge them interest on it also. So, in other words, by the time the farmer receives title to the property from the Crown, he has then paid the surface rental for sixteen years in advance and the oil well may well be dry many years before this, and he keeps paying for a well that will not be producing for that time period. I certainly hope that my government will change this former government policy, and put into effect the needed help for our young farmers.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, may I say that I don't consider you, the honourable members on the other side, as second class citizens. You were entrusted with the job to govern for 36 years and when the electors terminated your tenure of office I still expect you to come up with constructive ideas and programs to help us govern more effectively. Let us hear your concerns and problems and I'm sure that our Premier in open government may recommend that we use your views and ideas and recommendations to give the people of this province effectively good government.

The man for the job

People who have met all the candidates say he is the right man for the riding ... the only candidate whose entire career, in politics, government, and journalism, has been training for the job he is now seeking.

Joe Clark was born in High River in 1939. He is as young as the present Liberal Member of Parliament. He went to the University of Alberta, to study and later teach political science and Canadian government. Since then he has been a journalist and broadcaster, writing about Western Canada for the daily newspapers and the CBC.

He has taken an active part in federal and provincial politics since the first Diefenbaker election, in 1957. Joe was himself a candidate in the 1967 provincial election, and came remarkably close to defeating the former Speaker of the Legislature, Arthur Dixon, in Calgary South.

Reserve March 18 to support Joe Clark at the Drayton Valley meeting

Joe has served as Director of Provincial Organization for Peter Lougheed, and Special Assistant to the Honourable Davie Fulton. From 1967 to 1970, Joe Clark was Executive Assistant to Robert Stanfield. He has held several executive positions in the federal and provincial party, and was principal organizer of national policy conferences on Canadian goals and national priorities. Joe was given all these jobs because he could get things done. His record in both national and provincial party organizations is that of a doer.

He is also known as a thinker ... as a man who is urging new policies for the 1970's, for the survival of small towns and rural communities, for the quality of life in Western Canada, and for the development of new markets on the Pacific Rim.

During this apprenticeship, Joe has made it his business to learn about Western Alberta and its needs, to learn how to get things done in Ottawa, and to ask questions.

Man has billions of competitors in the rough game of survival — insects and plant diseases could strip the earth of food if not controlled by nature and by man.

When pests and diseases threaten crops, the Pest Control and Crop Protection Branch of the Department of Agriculture is there to help. In emergency situations, chemicals are provided at cost to counties and municipalities for redistribution to stricken farmers.

Field workers carry out the branch's never-ending program of inspections so that plant diseases and insect infestations do not strike unnoticed. A program of applied research ensures that the branch has at its disposal the most effective methods of cultural and chemical control against harmful insects, birds and animals.

Evansburg News

At their recent meeting the Volunteer Firemen finalized plans for the annual Firemen's Ball scheduled to be held at the Legion Hall on March 18th. The Firemen in Evansburg have had a relatively quiet season as far as fire calls are concerned and it would appear the residents of the village are fire safety concious and have eliminated all the known fire hazards. Keep up the good work.

The members of the Legion wish to thank all those who supported them in buying tickets in their recent raffle. The winner of the raffle was Mr. Herb Deickman. All the proceeds of the raffle went in support of the hockey club.

Get well wishes for a speedy recovery are extended to Mr. Glen Campbell who is a patient in the Misiricordia Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fausak attended a banquet in Edson to mark Education Week. They were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. A. Winfield of Wildwood.

At their regular monthly meetings the Legion and Auxiliary started plans to renovate and paint the wash rooms, also to install a dumb waiter so the catering can be done upstairs.

A St. Patrick Tea and Bake Sale will take place in the hotel basement March 18th, sponsored by the C.S.L. Proceeds to go to World Development of Peace.

Collision Takes Life

An Amber Valley woman was killed shortly after noon Friday in a truck-train collision three miles west of Lake Wabamun.

Eva Bowen, 55, was a passenger in a half-ton truck demolished by a CN freight train at a rail crossing. The driver, Hubert Taylor, 39, of 10624 76th Street escaped serious injury.

The truck, travelling north in a freezing drizzle, was struck sideways by the east-bound 88-car train. The accident caused minor damage to the train which was delayed about two hours.

Grand Trunk High School Progressing

Due to favorable weather conditions during the last two weeks the progress on the construction of the Grand Trunk High School in Evansburg has increased considerably.

The General Contractor has about 2/3 of the grade beams completed. Hoarding has been erected around the southeast corner of the building and the Masonry Contractor has completed a portion of the east wall. The general contractor is heating the enclosed portion of the building to maintain constant temperature to prevent any freezing of the newly-laid masonry work.

The Mechanical Contractor has completed all of the deep underground installations and the only remaining installations are the shallow lines which will be installed prior to pouring the concrete floors.

The general contractor has compacted gravel around the perimeter of the interior walls. The final compaction and testing of the interior fill will take place just prior to the pouring of concrete slabs.

The Speuhler's have moved into their new home. They are still putting the finishing touches on the inside. Mr. Speuhler has just returned from Switzerland where he flew to be with his mother before she passed away.

Mr. Gordon May is driving for a trucking outfit which makes regular runs into B. C. He's been lucky not to have been caught in any snow slides but he did have to back up for one that sent some snow down on him, shortly before the remaining mass plunged onto the highway.

To-day, Friday, the roads are a vicious sheet of ice. We cancelled our trip to Drayton Valley. We've been watching the cars descending Stepaniuk's hill; some turning sideways and one made three complete turns before straightening itself out. Over the hill several cars and trucks hit the ditch during a three hour period.

LEGISLATIVE REPORT

RUSTY ZANDER, M.L.A.

Mr. Editor, it certainly is a pleasure for me at this time to give you and my constituents a brief report on happenings in the Legislature of the past week.

Mostly the major part of the week was taken up with Rules, Orders and Forms of Proceedings of the Legislative Assembly and these were adopted during the debate in the House.

They, however, are of prime importance to the people of the province of Alberta.

The people of Alberta will now have a complete record of the proceedings of the House in the Alberta Hansard. No longer will a member be able to say he has been misquoted -- the record stands, and this is good.

Government M.L.A.'s will now be given an opportunity to introduce Bills as government bills that they had the chance to help form. Gone are the days when the M.L.A.s came into the House empty-handed and empty headed. He is now involved in formlating laws as they affect the people of this province and it gives him added responsibility.

Lastly but most important is, now that the proceedings from time to time will be televised at no cost to the government. This means that the people of this province will be able to see their representative in action and will mean better attendance in the House.

Speeches were made also during the Throne Speech debate, by government members and also by non-government members relating to problems in their constituencies and problems throughout the province.

Senior citizens of this province and their concern and all those on fixed incomes came in very loud and clear and government concern for them, not only for them, but also those mentally and physically handicapped will be top priority for our government.

Legislature during the week approved allocations of $50 million for agriculture for improvement in beef and dairying. Marketing of agricultural products is now under consideration. Fifty million has also been allocated for establishment of industries in smaller Alberta centres.

A new and vigorous approach will be given to the construction of nursing homes in the province and this is good, because this will take a load off our active treatment hospitals.

So as to give special attention to the welfare of our towns and smaller centres in the province added funds will be available for projects, and our main aim is to decentralize industry and place them in smaller centres. Also government agencies will be decentralized in order to give added imputus to smaller centres.

This Mr. Editor is a brief outline of the happenings in the House of the past week and it looks like it will be an interesting session -- but a long one.

Sitting in a dentist's reception room were a mother and child. A patient in his early 20's left left the office dressed in sandals and tunic, draped in beads, and adorned with shoulder-length locks. As he left, the youngster turned to his mother and asked: "Was that the tooth fairy?"
